

EXERCISE I—Words in Context

From the list below, supply the words needed to complete the paragraph. Some words will not be used.

droll gamut effigy austere duplicity abhor extrovert

- A. Monique was a [n] _____ who loved dealing with people, but she never thought that she would satisfy her need for socializing by selling used cars. She always _____ salespeople, but after becoming one, Monique realized that only a fraction of the _____ of salespeople indulge in the _____ and false promises that make dissatisfied customers angry enough to burn _____ of them.

From the list below, supply the words needed to complete the paragraph. Some words will not be used.

abate decorum dole abhor droll austere duplicity

- B. Typhoon Paka hammered the island of Guam for twelve hours before the winds _____. Gusts over two hundred miles an hour devastated the previously green island, creating _____ living conditions for residents in the weeks to come, especially for the estimated five thousand people who lost their homes. Residents able to witness Paka in action were astounded by the serious but almost _____ sight of Paka's invisible forces tossing around automobiles, dumpsters, and palm trees as though they were children's toys. In the days following Paka, residents adhered to traditional post-typhoon _____ by cleaning up hundreds of tons of debris, checking on the condition of friends and neighbors, repairing property, and, because of the lack of electricity, hosting mass barbecues before food perished in warm refrigerators. Luckily, food was not in short supply, but water had to be _____ out by several agencies in the weeks following the tempest.

Challenge: For the Words in Context exercise above, write ONE coherent sentence or paragraph using ALL of the words NOT utilized in the exercise at least once.

EXERCISE I—Words in Context

From the list below, supply the words needed to complete the paragraph. Some words will not be used.

droll gamut effigy austere duplicity abhor extrovert

- A. Monique was a [n] _____ who loved dealing with people, but she never thought that she would satisfy her need for socializing by selling used cars. She always _____ salespeople, but after becoming one, Monique realized that only a fraction of the _____ of salespeople indulge in the _____ and false promises that make dissatisfied customers angry enough to burn _____ of them.

From the list below, supply the words needed to complete the paragraph. Some words will not be used.

abate decorum dole abhor droll austere duplicity

- B. Typhoon Paka hammered the island of Guam for twelve hours before the winds _____. Gusts over two hundred miles an hour devastated the previously green island, creating _____ living conditions for residents in the weeks to come, especially for the estimated five thousand people who lost their homes. Residents able to witness Paka in action were astounded by the serious but almost _____ sight of Paka's invisible forces tossing around automobiles, dumpsters, and palm trees as though they were children's toys. In the days following Paka, residents adhered to traditional post-typhoon _____ by cleaning up hundreds of tons of debris, checking on the condition of friends and neighbors, repairing property, and, because of the lack of electricity, hosting mass barbecues before food perished in warm refrigerators. Luckily, food was not in short supply, but water had to be _____ out by several agencies in the weeks following the tempest.

Challenge: For the Words in Context exercise above, write ONE coherent sentence or paragraph using ALL of the words NOT utilized in the exercise at least once.